Dr. Aletha Maybank

February 20, 2020
7:30 p.m.
Shanahan Auditorium
Harvey Mudd College

Dr. Aletha Maybank, a pediatrician with expertise in health equity and social justice, is the first chief health equity officer for the American Medical Association. An authority on preventative medicine, food and fitness, maternal and child health, cancer, HIV/AIDS, community health and health inequities, she is co-founder of the “We are DocMcStuffins Movement” to encourage young girls of color to enter the field of medicine. She is a founding board member of the Artemis Medical Society, an international organization of over 2,500 Black female physicians.

FMI: Please contact Linda DeChaine at linda.dechaine@pitzer.edu